

Typing on a keyboard

We use computers a lot in our day to day life. The more familiar we are with them, the more efficient we can be in the tasks we are completing.

One thing that we can all benefit from practicing is typing accurately and quickly.

Use this website to become more familiar with the computer keyboard and where the different letters and keys are. There is no deadline for this work – keep working on it over the next few weeks – but do keep us updated of your progress in your Friday email if you'd like.

Remember it is about being fast and accurate. The more you practice the better you will become.
