Thinking Tom says;

The pronoun 'he' can be used to replace 'Jim' in this extract and it will still make sense.

Jim was the best guitar player in the school. Jim practised every night when Jim got home from school. Jim also played in the school band as well as in the local Church band with Jim's friends. Jim wants to be a pop star when Jim is older.

Is this true? Convince Me!

Tuesday:

Set 3

GRAMMAR

Thinking Tom says;

The pronoun 'they' can be used to replace 'the children' in this extract and it will still make sense.

After school, the Year 4 class were going to a disco as a reward for having the best attendance. The children were all very excited and the children had brought party clothes to change in to. Skipping excitedly towards the hall, the children could already hear the music playing and see lights flashing. The children could not wait to start dancing.

Is this right? What do you think?

Set 3

GRAMMAR

Thinking Tom says:

There are two verbs and two adverbs in this sentence.

Laughing loudly and skipping happily, the twins ran to school.

Can you make up a sentence that contains two verbs and two adverbs?

Can you explain the difference?

What do you think?

Answers:

Monday:

The pronoun `he` wouldn't make sense if Jim was replaced by he because of the sentence `Church band with he`s friends` This wouldn't make sense because it should read `his` friends not `he`s` friends. Replacing the whole sentence with `he` would also not give us any information about his name.

Tuesday:

The pronoun `they` would work in this sentence however would not be very cohesive as it is very repetitive.

Wednesday:

Yes- all of the determiners are correct.

Thursday:

There is only one adjective of amazing in the sentence.

Friday:

There are two of each in the sentence.
